Please know that Mon-Thursday, our Westside detail is assigned to Angels Flight every morning. They make their way over the wall, and whomever is sleeping there, they are escorted out. As for the Cleanup, I dont know, but this is a huge issue because this is not monitored. Is there a possibility of getting cameras for this Area?? Please advise

Subject: Angels Flight Steps

Hello Hal,

Well, we cleaned up the Angels Flight Steps and Angels Knoll again today and this is what we found (see images below).

- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->None of the gates had locks on them and were exactly as they were the last time we cleaned on September 17. There were no locks on the fence leading to the dumpsters below Angels Flight, no locks on Angels Knoll and no locks on the fence in the park along Hill Street. We had unfeddered access.
- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->There was a great deal of trash strewn around in Angels Knoll Park (at the top) and it was evident that it had been there for quite some time. The trash behind the bouganvillea in the photo below had been there since September 17 when we cleaned the first time.
- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->There was homeless man having intercourse with what appeared to be a prostitute behind the bouganvillea (just above Nicks head in the photo below) at 11:30am.
- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->There were still quite a lot of syringes laying around since the last time we cleaned. Most of them were in the park along Hill Street.

There was a man having intercourse with a prostitute just to the right of the frame of the photo. This trash has been here since September 17. We didn't clean it last time because there is an encampment there and we felt it was too dangerous to approach the people there.

These are different sites in the park below although they might look the same in the photo.

This is what we collected.

We took the syringes to the vet for disposal.
